species carries penalties from six months to one year in jail and fines from $10,000 to $20,000. Ladner's catch and another sea turtle caught in Gulfport Harbor Wednesday are housed at Marine Life in Gulfport awaiting surgery today by Dr. Gerald Dukes, DVM, of Gulfport to remove hooks. Hanley said they will be nourished following surgery, tagged and released back into the Gulf. Ladner was fishing with Brian Carpenter and Lynn Saucedo, both of Bay St. Louis. He described the turtle as weighing some five pounds, measuring 12 inches long and 8 to 10 inches across, with age estimated at 1 to 2 years. Officials said only some 500 sea turtles are believed left in the oceans. (Staff photo by Steven J. Lipana)

School board plans secret discussions

By BRENT MACEY

The president of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District Board of Trustees said Monday the board will review recommendations of its ad hoc Educational Needs Assessment Committee in secret "workshop" sessions.

Walter Turcotte of Waveland, board president, said members of the committee, public and press will be barred from the board discussions of recommendations made by the committee.

Andrews Wilkinson, chairman of the committee's testing subcommittee, complained the board will vote for or against the recommendations without giving committee members an opportunity to hear the discussions from which the board's decisions are formulated.

"I don't think we could get much done in an open meeting," Turcotte stated.

Turcotte indicated the school board intends to meet in secret on a monthly basis to review the committee reports.

The committee's majority report was submitted to the board at a special, open meeting Monday night.

Also submitted Monday night were two minority reports from committee members whose views on certain issues varied from the majority view and had been voted not to be included in the majority report.

The trustees voted to accept all reports from the committee after hearing the presentations.

Members of the committee and the groups they represent include Margo Robinson of the Waveland Parent Teachers Organization; Lana Noonan, Charles Barrack and Jo Ellen Necaise of North Bay PTO; Robert Delcuze and John Ginn of Tiger Booster Club.

Also, Lamar Crosby and Dan Welsh of Tiger Pride Band Aides; Gail Carr and Lyn Parrish of Mississippi Association of Education; Kathy Cacibauda and Nell Woodall of the American Federation of Teachers.

And, Francis Crowley and Coral Gaudet of the Mississippi Professional Educators; Bill Monti, Willie Bradley and Pat Favre of City of Bay St. Louis; Robert Warner, Linda Penrose and Charles Ladner of City of Waveland; Andrews Wilkinson and Thomas Raphael of Committee for Better Education; James Baldree, school district administrator; and James Ginn, school board member.

Woods arson cases referred, dropped

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A Flat Top Community man charged with woods arson is facing a Circuit Court trial, but a similar charge against a Picayune man was recently dropped.

The two were charged in separate arrests last month when wind-whipped forest fires devastated woodlands throughout Hancock County and the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Delbert Seay, County Sheriff's Department investigator, this week reported Norman Miller, 52, of Flat Top waved a April 21 preliminary hearing before District Two Justice Court Judge Horatio Frierson recently to face trial in Circuit Court.

Seay said Miller signed a statement at the sheriff's office admitting he set certain woods fires in Flat Top.

A witness reportedly saw Miller ignite brush with matches.

Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson this week confirmed that arson charges against Mark Skipper, 19, of Route 3, Box 140 in Picayune were dropped due to insufficient evidence.

Witnesses reportedly saw Skipper fire flares into woods near Flat Top.

Peterson said a recent preliminary hearing in Frierson's court revealed witnesses only saw Skipper's truck in the area when the fires occurred.

COUNTY SCHOOL HIT

Equipment and food were apparently stolen from Charles B. Murphy Elementary School recently.

Seay Tuesday stated, "J.D. Penton, school principal, Friday morning reported an International Business Machines typewriter, a television set and two cases of hamburger patties were stolen."

The investigator said the burglars also broke into a soft drink machine and stole some of the contents.

"We do have suspects who we are trying to locate now," Seay noted.

Seay and Deputy Dennis Tartavouille are conducting an investigation.

YOUTHS CHARGED

Two teenage boys, from Lakeshore and Ansley, have been charged with grand larceny by the sheriff's office and placed in custody of the County Youth Court.

Peterson said the two have been charged in the theft of two outboard boat motors and two outboard gasoline tanks stolen in Ansley and Henderson Point.

Seay stated, "E.J. Ladner Monday reported a 9.8 horsepower outboard motor and its gasoline tank had been stolen from his father Coleman 'Bud' Ladner of Ansley Road."

The investigator explained an investigation led to the youths' arrest in which two outboard motors and one gasoline tank were recovered.

Seay said a 15 horsepower outboard stolen from a Henderson Point resident was one of the recovered items.

County fee paid officials net more than $119,000

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County's fee paid officials netted over $119,000 in 1980.

Chancery Clerk E. Michael Necaise, Circuit Clerk Henry Otis, Justice Court judges and constables all collect fees for their services.

Income reports from these officials are submitted annually to the Secretary of State's office in Jackson by April 15, but a final May 15 deadline is offered as a grace period for late reports.

Otis and District Three Constable Phillip Malley missed the first deadline, but Assistant Secretary of State Harold Crane Tuesday afternoon said he received Malley's report April 22.

The circuit clerk Wednesday morning said his work load resulting from the upcoming May 12 Bay St. Louis citywide election has delayed his report.

Otis said he plans to submit the statement the end of this week, but would not speculate his net income amount.

A fee paid official's net income is the amount remaining after employee salaries and office expenses are deducted.

Excluding Otis, the county's fee paid officials received $119,517.

High bacteria level found in Kiln water

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Response to customer complaints of a heavy chlorine taste in Kiln's new water system apparently caused a high first quarter bacteria rating by the State Board of Health.

Mike Haas, Kiln Water and Fire Protection District attorney, Wednesday reported, "When we first began operating the water system customers complained of a heavy chlorine taste."

The attorney said Vernon (Dutch) Haas, water system manager, "cut down" the amount of chlorine added automatically by a chlorinator in response to customer grumblings.

Knuckle boom vandalized

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson Saturday stated Joe Ball of Saucier, Miss., reported vandals damaged some $10,000 worth of his logging equipment located in the National Space Technology Buffer Zone approximately two miles west northwest of Hwy. 507 on the second dirt road north of 1-10.

Peterson said Ball reported his FMC skidder and his timber jack skidder were driven into his Barko knuckle boom sometime between 5 p.m. Friday afternoon and 8 a.m. Saturday morning while the work crew had left the site.

Peterson said the Barko knuckle boom received all the damage.

The sheriff said Saucier is employed by International Paper Company but owns his own equipment.

Sunday accidents claim two lives

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Accidents Sunday claimed the lives of an elderly Metairie woman and a Clermont Harbor man.

Edgar Little Jr., Harrison County coroner and Sheriff's Department chief investigator in Gulfport, Wednesday afternoon reported the body of Rosalie R. Brand, 88, of 624 Cherokee Ave. in Metairie was found at 8 a.m. floating in a Henderson Point canal near Sunset Street.

"According to Mildred Brancich (the woman's daughter), she, her husband and mother had come over to their 712 Sunset St. summer home Friday," Little stated.

"Brand was infirmed and she had recently suffered a stroke," he noted. "Brancich said she had checked on her mother at 2 a.m. Sunday and found her asleep in her room. When the couple woke up at about 8 a.m., they found Brand missing and started a search immediately," the coroner explained.

"A sheriff's deputy and a neighbor recovered Brand's body at about 8 a.m. in the bayou behind the home," Little said.

"A coroner's examination revealed cardio-pulmonary arrest due to (or secondary to) toxemia (a stage of suffocation) due to accidental drowning," the coroner stated.

"What we have here is a lady of advanced age, unfamiliar with the location who in the dark accidentally walked into the bayou," Little determined.

Later Sunday Brian Ladner, 20, of Route 3, Box 3451, Bay St. Louis in Clermont Harbor apparently lost control of his pickup truck at approximately 6:15 p.m. while traveling west on South Street in Waveland and struck a tree in mid-air.

Ladner died from accident injuries at about noon Monday in Gulfport Memorial Hospital's Intensive Care Unit.

Chief Donald Dorn of the Waveland Police Department Wednesday said an accident report filed by Patrolman Veronica Hattabough and John Wilkerson attributes the accident to Ladner travelling at a high rate of speed.

"Ladner was approaching the first sharp curve in the road when he lost control of the truck, went off the left side of the right-of-way and hit a culvert," Dorn said.

The police chief explained the truck became airborne and was perpendicular to the ground when the top of the truck broadsided a pine tree "six to eight feet" up the tree.

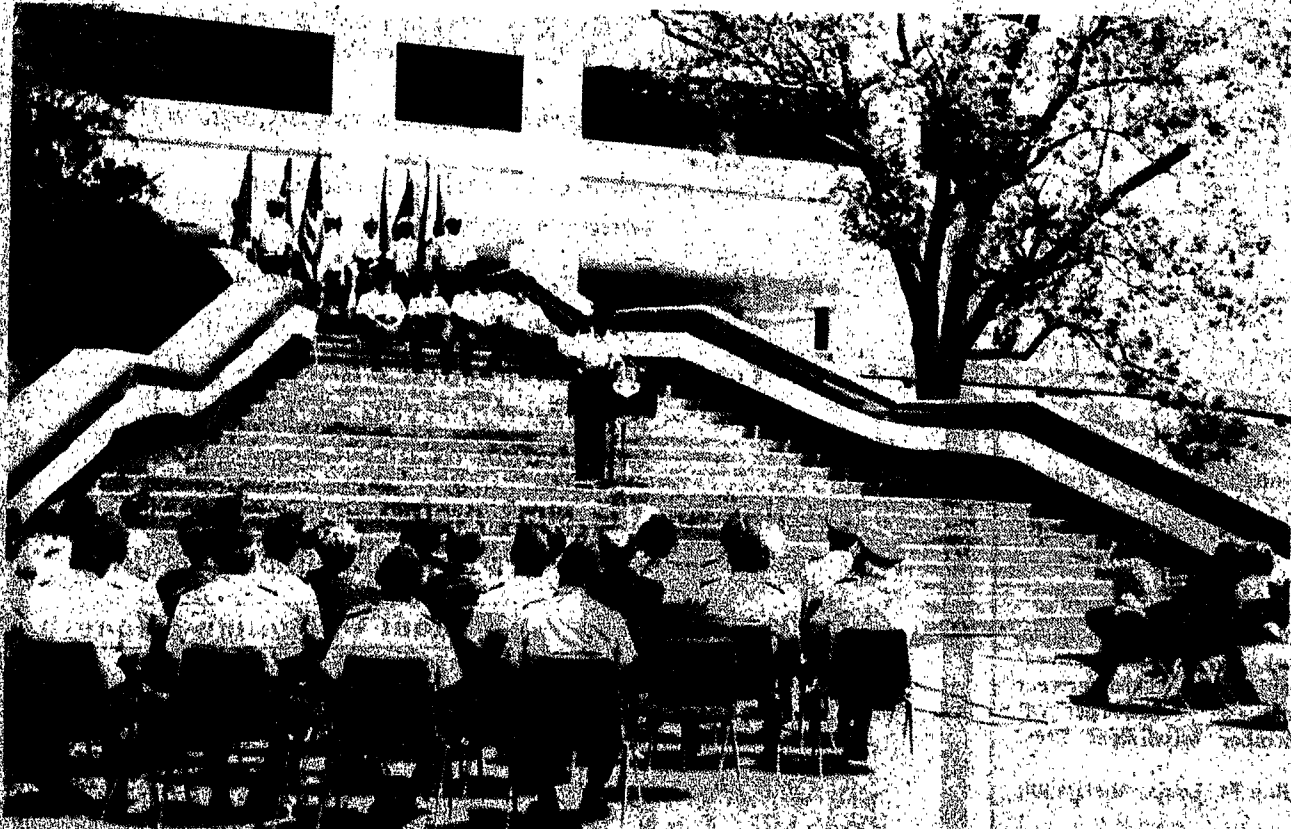

Dorn said the tree then catapulted truck upside down back on the roadway.

Ladner was the only person in the vehicle at the time of the accident.

The police chief said a wrecker and the jaws of life were needed to free Ladner from the crushed vehicle.

Also responding to the accident were the Waveland Fire Department, Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Mississippi Highway Patrol, N.A. Periniaro and Son Wrecker Service and Mobile Medical's paramedic team.

The incident is still under investigation by investigators Robert (Roughie) Tartavouille and Sandra Henley.

Mississippi Power files for rehearing on rates

Mississippi Power Company, charging that the Public Service Commission failed to comply with its constitutional duty to provide a rate of return which will financially support reliable electric service, has filed a petition seeking rehearing of the commission's retail rate order issued April 16.

MPC Board Chairman Victor J. Daniel Jr. said attorneys for the power company have filed a petition seeking the rehearing and that the Public Service Commission, by state law, has 20 days to act on the request.

"The commission's decision is totally unsupported by any evidence presented during public hearings and completely ignores factual information detailing Mississippi Power Company's need to maintain a balanced and cost-effective financing program," he stated.

Mississippi Power Company's petition lists nearly 50 alleged errors and inconsistencies made by the Public Service Commission in its recent order granting the utility $10.9 million, or 28 percent of the amount originally requested.

"The Public Service Commission's decision is completely out of step with present economic conditions. The decision allows Mississippi Power Company only 9.76 percent return on an arbitrarily reduced rate base while inflation continues at a level of some 12 percent, and interest costs on new funds are substantially higher than the inflation rate. This order reflects a complete lack of concern for the financial stability of the company," Daniel charged.

"The Public Service Commission seeks to substitute the uninformed business judgement of its outside staff for informed and timely decisions made by company management with a lifetime of electric utility experience. The staff's judgement is not supported by the facts and is contrary to the law," he stated.

The power company official said that, "The Public Service Commission adopted, with one exception, every outside staff recommendation, even when the staff admitted errors in its recommendations."

"This shows a complete lack of independent thought and consideration of the issues in this rate request," he continued.

"In view of this arbitrary and erroneous order, Mississippi Power Company has no other alternative but to seek a rehearing. I hope that the Commission will recognize Mississippi Power Company's constitutional right to fair rate treatment by reconsidering its decision," Daniel concluded.

Mississippi Power Company, citing spiraling inflation, originally filed in late October, 1980, a request for a retail rate increase of some $39.3 million. The rates have been in effect since November, 1980, under bond and subject to refund with interest.

Mississippi Power Company, with headquarters in Gulfport, provides electric service to over 158,000 customers in 23 southeast Mississippi counties. The company is a member of the Southern electric system.

During his first year in office Necaize deducted $18,067 for employee salaries which resulted in his net income of $30,548.

Presently there are no established criteria for circuit and chancery clerk deductions, but a bill passed in the recent legislative session requires the State Auditor to formulate a standard deduction list for chancery clerks 1981 reports.

Justice Court judge net income reports were much lower compared to 1979 figures when three local judges were included in the top five earners in the state.

District Two Justice Court Judge

Horatio Frierson listed $31,869 net income compared to $50,697 reported in 1979.

District Three Justice Court Judge Lloyd Anderson cleared $12,209, substantially less than $39,605 listed the previous year.

District One Justice Court Judge Lee Klein's income was cut one-half from 1979 figures based on his $20,974 report.

In their first year in office District Five Justice Court Judge John Chevris netted $14,007 and District Four Justice Court Judge Bruce Necaize reported $7,866.

District One Constable, Pete Noto netted $605, District Three Constable

Phillip Malley listed $520, District Two Constable Merlin (Shorty) Necaize cleared $510 and District Four Constable Gerald Tomasich reported $409. Crane said District Five Constable William Carbonette listed no income with receipts and expenditures reported at exactly $2,334.

The assistant secretary of state noted that letters have been sent to officials not meeting the April 15 deadline and those not filing by May 15 face possible legal action by Secretary of State Bill Allain.

Crane noted greater number of income reports were received prior to this year's April deadline than in previous years.

Bacteria.....

"We actually just failed a test in the first week of January, but we are penalized for 90 days."

He said upon receiving the report he boosted the chlorine to the suggested amount and conducted additional tests the following two weeks in which the system received an acceptable state rating.

Mike Haas noted, "Since the people have gotten use to the chlorine taste we have had no complaints."

"When people have drank well water all their lives it takes time for people to get use to the chlorine taste," he said.

"The system manager was just trying to accommodate the people," the attorney stated.

"Since then we've gotten all good ratings," he added.

A notice in the classified section of this issue states the system "did not meet the bacteriological standards of the federal and state Safe Drinking Water Acts."

"The coliform bacteria average was 40.0 for the period. The standards require an average of no more than one coliform bacteria," the notice concludes.

Vernon Haas said the rating was determined by state officials from a vial containing a water sample he drew from the system.

The system manager noted the system now has some 235 customers and a Rocky Hill Firetower Road extension should add 100 customers to the water operation.

The water system began operation in October.

Hancock school board again eyes controversial paraquat program

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County School Board Saturday discussed the possibility of allowing a company from Hattiesburg to treat 16th section timber land with a chemical called paraquat.

Fred Carpenter, regional supervisor of Hercules Incorporated, said Monday, the trees are treated with the chemical to cause resin to accumulate in the tree stump. Later that resin is extracted from the stump to produce turpentine, resin and pine oil, he said. He told the board long leaf and slash pine trees are the only types of tree his company treats with the chemical.

Carpenter said the company would clear stumps in areas and be willing to pay from $5 to $10 an acre for the treated stumps.

He said the clearing would benefit the school board by altering timber land to agricultural land and/or facilitating the replanting of timber lands.

He stated procuring the stumps would also secure jobs for some 550 people now employed by Hercules.

Board members Louie Ladner and Woodrow Ladner stated they had considered the proposal approximately two years ago but were concerned with the possibility the chemical might hurt wild life and possibly people who come in contact with the chemical through that wildlife.

They said they had asked the company to supply some information on any possible dangers of paraquat at that first meeting and the company failed to do so.

Carpenter said paraquat has already been used to treat several thousand acres of timber land in Hancock County, land which belongs to banks and private individuals, and has also experimented with the chemical in South America and Australia.

He said he "felt comfortable" the chemical "agent would not affect wildlife or people and added a person could drink eight gallons of the diluted chemical without being injured.

He added the chemical is applied in diluted form to trees.

Monday he said he would not advise anybody drinking paraquat because the chemical is very poisonous.

He told the board the chemical does not affect growth or merchandizing of the trees.

He stated application involves drilling two holes near the base of the tree and inserting the chemical. Two years later, when the tree is cut, the stump can be harvested.

Woodrow Ladner asked to see some proof from either the Federal Drug Administration or the Environmental Protection Agency or both, showing a study taken of the chemical and its effects.

Carpenter assured the board he would be able to supply that type of study and said he would send the information to Billy Sills, school superintendent.

In other business, the board approved following Plan One of two plans submitted by Assistant Superintendent James Pair.

That plan calls for establishing four department heads in the school district, one head for each department including, science, English-language arts, mathematics, and social studies.

The board voted against Plan Two which would establish six department heads for, language arts-English-foreign languages, athletic director-health-physical education-civil defense, social studies-social science, mathematics, vocational education-industrial arts, business education.

Woodrow Ladner was opposed to the creation of six department heads.

He said Plan Two involved lumping departments together which are overseen by individuals specializing in specific fields.

He used the vocational education-industrial arts department as an example, stating, "if a teacher in the vocational education department, as chosen to head the department he will not know the first thing about the industrial arts department and should not be in the position that he is department head."

The board agreed with Ladner's reasoning and approved Plan One.

Also during the Saturday meeting the board, approved allowing the Parent Teachers Association of the elementary school at Hancock North Central to pay the cost of installing air conditioning at the elementary school.

The board agreed to pay the cost of the electric bill for those units, estimated to be approximately $125 per month. Total PTA cost for the units and installation is estimated at approximately $13,000.

The board also approved allowing any other PTA organizations pay the cost for adding and installing air conditioning units for any other school in the district.

Board member Louie Ladner said the school board should not consider building any school buildings in the future without planning to include air conditioning.

Also during the regularly scheduled meeting at the superintendent's office on Court Street in Bay St. Louis, the board:

—Approved payment of a four month $959 telephone bill for the telephone connecting the band hall, gymnasium and field house at Hancock North Central. Louie Ladner said teachers who use the phone repaid the school board $213 of that $959 dollars. He said the board has set a limit on the amount of money which the school board will pay for that phone, and said the teachers were over that limit by $213.

Deputy buys phony speed

Two Gulfport men were arrested Saturday and charged with false pretense and possession of marijuana after initially being charged with sale of a controlled substance by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson said, Investigator Delbert Seay of the sheriff's department allegedly bought 500 pills believed to be black mollies (amphetamines) from David Joseph Favre, 19, of Gulfport at 11 a.m. after meeting Favre and another youth via car in Lakeshore.

Peterson said Seay allegedly handed Favre $100 in marked money in exchange for the 500 pills.

"After the exchange, Seay arrested Favre for sale of a controlled substance and searched the youth's car," Peterson said.

Peterson said approximately one ounce of marijuana was found in the car owned by Favre.

The sheriff said the other youth, James M. Hall, 18, also of Gulfport, was charged along with Favre with possession of marijuana at that time.

Peterson said analysis of the drugs later revealed the drugs were not a controlled substance.

"The capsules proved to be some type of caffeine stimulant," Peterson said. Peterson said the sale of controlled drug charge was dropped and replaced with a charge of false pretense.

The sheriff said Seay had asked the youths if the drugs were "good stuff (speed)" during the alleged transaction and Favre allegedly said yes.

"For that reason he is charged with false pretense," the sheriff said.

Favre is currently being held in the county jail with no bond because he is on probation from a previous conviction of sale of marijuana in Harrison County, Peterson said.

Hall was placed on $200 bond.

Voting booth is place to end secret meetings

Prior to last week's political forum at the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, several candidates in the forthcoming Bay municipal elections had estimated the candidates themselves would constitute the largest number of people attending.

They were wrong. More than 100 citizens came away from their supper tables, television sets and comfortable homes to hear the election issues discussed and to talk with the candidates, proving once again people are truly interested in the workings of their local government bodies.

And that turnout at the Courthouse also proved, in our opinion, that the several candidates who endorsed continuation of the Bay Council's policy of routinely conducting secret workshop meetings were also wrong.

We cannot believe citizens who will turn out in representative numbers as they did for the forum last week could also be complacent about the conduct of public business in secret and the hiding behind locked doors by public officials while they reach decisions on the expenditure of tax dollars and the formation of public policies.

Unfortunately, as with an unchecked cancer in the human body, this insidious 'workshop' practice is spreading in the local body politic, with the revelation this week that one of the local school boards intends to initiate regular monthly secret meetings to discuss, of all things, the recommendations of a citizen committee on educational needs in the system.

In addition to violating the spirit of the state's open meetings law, such secret meetings by the Bay school board may also be in contempt of the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Mississippi.

The Legislative Declaration included in Section 25-41-4 of the Mississippi Code states:

"It being essential to the fundamental philosophy of the American constitutional form of representative government and to the maintenance of a democratic society that public business be performed in an open and public manner, and that the citizens be advised of and be aware of the performance of the public officials and the deliberations that go into the making of public policy, it is hereby declared to be the policy of the State of Mississippi that formation and determination of public policy is public business and shall be conducted at open meetings except as provided herein."

We find it appalling that candidates for re-election in the May 12 elections have not taken advantage of this opportunity to recount their previous positions on secret meetings, and find it unconscionable that some candidates seeking public office for the first time are taking a stance in support of continuation of such heinous practices.

The voters of Bay St. Louis at this time have a golden opportunity to strike a blow for freedom, democratic government and the Constitution of the United States without either going to war or mounting a public demonstration.

They have merely to insist that their favorite candidates in the May 12 election promise to put an end to secret meetings and the ominous political atmosphere they engender.

If the council puts an end to secret meetings, perhaps the school board will get the message the Federal Court apparently cannot get across.

Demonstrate loyalty by displaying flag

May 1 is Loyalty Day designed to involve the community in display of the flag.

Every loyal citizen is urged to participate by displaying an American flag in an effort to make this Loyalty Day the best observance ever held.

Loyalty Day has become a tradition with the Veterans of Foreign Wars. With the passage of Public Law 85-529 on July 18, 1958, the VFW won a long, hard battle to have Loyalty Day approved by Congress. However, this day does not belong to the VFW alone, it belongs to all Americans.

Most Americans have heard the quote "Ask not what your country can do for you - ask what you can do for your country." This is a sound principle to live by in a country such as ours, where the government is elected by the people and where the public is expected to participate in the governing process.

In these times of global political turbulence, Americans should pause and ask themselves, "What have we done and what are we doing now to demonstrate to the world just how we feel about our country?"

After all, ours is a country that has held high the beacon of liberty and asked other nations that they send to us, in the words of Emma Lazarus emblazoned on the Statue of Liberty, their "huddled masses yearning to breathe free."

Ours is a country that has taken the abstract ideal of "Freedom and Justice for All" and made it into a way of life.

We must pledge ourselves to maintain a free society in which loyalty is always encouraged and respected.

Soybean Association applauds embargo lift

Embargo over! U.S. soybean growers and other farmers reacted favorably to Friday's news that President Ronald Reagan had totally lifted the Soviet grain and soybean embargo.

Former President Jimmy Carter imposed the embargo on January 4, 1980, in retaliation for the Soviet Union's invasion of Afghanistan.

The embargo, which halted all soybean sales to the Soviets, allowed the Russians to purchase the minimum amounts of corn and wheat outlined in the five-year U.S.-USSR grain agreement. Soybeans are not included in the agreement.

Leaders of the American Soybean Association have fought the Soviet embargo since January 4 saying it wouldn't work and that it placed an unfair foreign policy burden on U.S. farmers.

President Reagan's April 24 announcement removes all restrictions on soybean sales to the Soviets. Corn and wheat sales are still limited to the terms of the five-year agreement.

"We're extremely pleased with the president's decision to keep his campaign commitment to lift the embargo," says ASA President Frank Ray, a soybean grower from Baker, Florida.

"It's good to know that the president listens to his agriculture secretary on matters that directly affect farmers. With the embargo-over, farmers now have the freedom to reach all their

It was heart warming to see and hear the reception given to our President Tuesday night as he addressed Congress.

We feel now is the time for Americans, more than ever, to stick together in bringing inflation under control.

There will be sacrifices in store for all of us, but we sure do not want to see the crashes like the 20's and 30's again in the United States.

We are sure there are nations which would like to see us crash so they can take advantage of all of us.

Patriotism is something all Americans must practice and we hope it is on the increase.

Drinking and driving is a serious problem in Mississippi and it is also a problem in Hancock County. If you do not believe it, check the registry at the Hancock Sheriff's office and you will see more entries related to alcohol than anything else.

A help to law enforcement agencies, we hope, will be the lowering of the blood alcohol level for DWI to .10 percent.

Our Governor has signed this new bill and it will go into effect on July 1. Fines and time in jail have been increased and also license revocations and mandatory driver education course attendances.

We know Sheriff Ronald Peterson, Bay Police Chief Douglas Williams and Donald Dorn, Waveland's chief of police, are happy to see the stricter laws.

Many of the judges indicate they are also happy to see more stringent laws on the books for persons drinking and driving. It is a proven fact that alcohol is involved in the highest percentage of fatal accidents.

Waveland's officials have to be commended on the donation of the use of an area at the Civic Center for use by the YMCA. The YMCA, active in the country for many years, is a tremendous program for the development of youth.

We know Mayor John Longo is very familiar with the YMCA, as he was a member for many years.

It is good to have the program start in Hancock County and we hope it will continue and grow into a full YMCA operation in the coming years.

Humane Society decries thoughtless dumping of animals

April 25, 1981
Editor
The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

This is to inform the persons who drop off unwanted animals, dogs, puppies, cats and kittens at the homes of Humane Society members when they are not at home, is cruel and practically the same as abandoning the animals in any insecure place.

If those people are so anxious to be rid of helpless pets or strays, they should get permission or at least inquire, if the resident is at home before dumping these unfortunate animals. This act of abandonment is selfish, unreasonable, inhumane treatment.

I was not at home when this happened to me. Just suppose I had gone on a trip of long duration, or even for a few days.

I dread to think of what tragedy could have come to these three poor, helpless, orphan pups.

Just because our society members have a concern for animals is no reason for dumping animals at their homes, not knowing in advance the circumstance for their safety.

Hereafter, please phone, or keep in contact for advice and information, when problems like this occur. We will try to help in any way we can. The only fortunate thing in this case is that my cats did not venture near the three pups to attack.

Thanking you kindly for publication.

For 100 years the Red Cross has been an expression of brotherhood of man.

Due to numerous natural disasters the National Red Cross Disaster Fund has nearly been depleted. It is urgent that this fund be replenished soon.

In Hancock County the story is the

Any amount that you can give will be greatly appreciated. Please send your membership to: Membership Fund, American National Red Cross, P.O. Box 149, Bay St. Louis, Ms. 39520. Remember - Red Cross is your local neighbor.

At the other end pincer, the Soviet in Afghanistan constitutes flanking movement doubled the length Soviet-Iranian frontier.

Southwest Asia balance lies with Afghanistan

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article entitled "The Geopolitical Importance of Afghanistan" by James Phillips, a National Security Analyst with the Heritage Foundation in Washington, is supplied to The Sea Coast Echo by Public Research, Syndicated of Claremont, Calif.

As all America rejoices at the return of its hostages from their long captivity in Iran, there will be a dangerous tendency to relax and pretend that the Middle East, and the Persian Gulf no longer exist.

To do so would be a disastrous error for the United States. The Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, now over a year old, serves as a constant reminder that this entire region continues to hold great strategic significance for both superpowers.

Although Afghanistan is a remote, obscure country which ranks among the poorest nations in the world, its strategic location endows it with a high degree of geopolitical importance.

Afghanistan has long been a major crossroads of Asia astride important north-south and east-west land routes.

Its control of the Khyber and Bolan passes has historically made it the gateway which links Russia with the Indian sub-continent and the Middle East with the Orient.

The spine of this rugged Texas-sized country is formed by the soaring peaks of the Hindu Kush, a forbidding chain of mountains extending from central Afghanistan to the northeastern reaches of the country.

The Hindu Kush forms the watershed between the Oxus and Indus river valleys and is the natural barrier between central and southern Asia.

Because of its pivotal geopolitical position, Afghanistan has repeatedly become the focal point for conflict between rival empires, a historical tendency which has earned it the sobriquet, "cockpit of Asia."

In the 19th Century, Afghanistan's very survival as an independent state was linked to its role as a buffer between Czarist Russia to the north and the British empire on the Indian subcontinent to the south.

The Soviet Union has exhibited a long-standing interest in Afghanistan and its other southern neighbors, as evidenced by the Molotov-Ribbentrop Protocol to the 1939 Hitler-Stalin Pact, which asserted that Soviet territorial aspirations lay in the direction of the Persian Gulf and Indian Ocean.

In recent years the Kremlin's incentives for expanding its influence to the south have been significantly enhanced by the growing importance of Middle Eastern, especially Persian Gulf, oil in the western economic system.

According to the CIA, Soviet interest in the region is likely to continue to intensify in the 1980s as Soviet oil production peaks, and the Soviet bloc becomes a net oil importer. Seen from the vantage point of the Persian Gulf, the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan constitutes one part of a giant pincer movement designed to encircle Gulf oil reserves.

The Kremlin already has established a military presence in Ethiopia and South Yemen. It has signed military assistance pacts with Iraq (1978) and Syria (1980) and stands to gain considerable influence in Iran due to continuing anarchy there.

At the other end of the pincer, the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan constitutes a flanking movement which has doubled the length of the Soviet-Iranian frontier and opened up the permeable eastern border of Iran to potential Soviet military pressures.

It has expanded the perimeter of the Soviet bloc to within 350 miles of long-sought warm water ports on the Arabian Sea and has established a common border with Pakistan.

The Pakistanis have been subjected to a covert Soviet campaign of coercion meant to deter them from extending aid to Afghan rebels among the more than 1,000,000 Afghan refugees who fled across the border into north-west Pakistan.

In March, 1980 Pakistan refused to accept $400 million in U.S. military aid for fear of antagonizing Moscow.

The Soviet invasion of Afghanistan has also moved Soviet combat aircraft 500 miles closer to the vital sea lines of communication emanating from the Persian Gulf which function as the oil lifeline of the industrial West.

Soviet planes based in southwest Afghanistan are now situated closer to the strategic Straits of Hormuz (through which pass 40 percent of the western oil imports) than if they were based in Teheran.

Using these bases Soviet aircraft could reach the choke point at the mouth of the Persian Gulf and remain on station there for at least 30 minutes.

Clearly, Soviet access to Afghan airbases significantly upgrades the Kremlin's ability to block, or even sever, the petroleum jugular vein of the West and greatly enhances the Soviet ability to neutralize American naval power in the Arabian Sea.

In addition, occupied Afghanistan provides Moscow with an excellent fulcrum which increases Russian diplomatic leverage over both Iran and Pakistan.

Both states have had troubles in the past with ethnic separatist movements and both are likely to face more such problems in the future.

Because Afghanistan is wedged between Iraq and Pakistan in close proximity to strong, holds of ethnic separatism along the peripheries of the two states, the Soviets could threaten the internal stability as well as the external security of both states.

The principal focal point for separatist sentiment lies in Baluchistan, the tribal homeland of the Baluch people, which encompasses both sides of the Iran-Pakistan border.

The Baluch have risen in revolt three times since 1947 and are entirely capable of doing so again.

The last uprising, begun in 1973, persisted for four years until Pakistan's General Zia reached an uneasy truce with the rebels in November, 1977.

Today there are an estimated 300 Soviet agents working among the Baluch, chiefly in Afghanistan, and up to 8,000 Baluch being trained in the USSR.

There are rumors that part of this education includes guerrilla warfare training by Cuban military instructors.

Even before the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan the Pakistanis had amassed reliable intelligence that young Baluch tribesmen were being exfiltrated across the border to Soviet-operated camps in Southern Afghanistan for political indoctrination and advanced weapons training.

Clearly, the Soviets are laying the groundwork for a possible war of national liberation in Baluchistan.

This would be an extremely dangerous development because the secession of Baluchistan would give the Soviets a grateful client state dependent on Soviet support to offset the enmity of Iran and Pakistan.

In return for Soviet protection, the Baluch would probably be only too happy to grant the Soviets base rights at the excellent natural harbor at Gwadar only 400 miles east of the Straits of Hormuz.

Not only would a pro-Soviet Baluchistan serve as a base for the projection of Soviet naval and airpower into the strategic penetration of the Persian Gulf region and a stepping stone for Islamic religious penetration of Soviet Central Asia.

Moscow needed to stop the resurgent tide of Islamic fundamentalism which is currently sweeping Iran, Pakistan and Afghanistan at the Hindu Kush in order to insulate its fast growing Moslem population of 50 million from the "Green menace" (the color green has come to symbolize Islam).

Persian Gulf-Arabian Sea region, but the Afghanistan-Baluchistan land bridge would afford the Soviets a direct warm-water outlet on the Indian Ocean, a factor which would vastly improve Soviet access to their outpost in South Yemen, perceived by many (including the Saudis) to be the back door to the Saudi oilfields.

Clearly, a pro-Soviet Baluchistan would not only threaten the viability of the Pakistani state, but in the long run would threaten the Gulf oil routes and ultimately the balance of power in the crucial Persian Gulf region, as well as Afghanistan is both a stepping stone for Soviet

The Soviets could not afford a humiliating defeat on their own doorstep since such a defeat might revive latent national, religious opposition movements in Soviet Central Asia as well as in Eastern Europe.

Afghanistan was a domino that could fall either way. The Soviet invasion of Afghanistan was therefore a product of mixed offensive and defensive motives.

It represents a qualitative change in the balance of power in Southwest Asia, a manifestation of the self-serving Soviet concept of detente and a possible turning point in Soviet relations with the Islamic world.

Bay High staging 'Absolutely Murder'

Combine a well written play with a chilling plot; mix in some very funny comedy scenes, add 14 well trained actors and an old dilapidated factory, and the result is a chill-packed evening of entertainment.

Friday night at 8 p.m. the Bay High Senior Class will present "Absolutely Murder" by Guernsey LePelley. A play which has won several drama critics' awards including the coveted Moss Hart

Drama Circle Award.

It has been done both by professionals and amateurs and has received nationwide acclaim by everyone that has done it.

The play revolves around Aunt Bess and her niece Kate who are looking at an old 18th Century gunpowder mill as a possible home.

They arrive on a stormy night to look at the place along with Mrs. Ranch the real estate lady, and Kate's

'almost' fiancée Sky Bentley.

It is very obvious that Aunt Bess is thrilled with the possibilities, much to the dismay of Sky who knows the only reason Aunt Bess even knows about the place is because of Lane Burrage, Kate's other boyfriend who wants to take her away from Sky.

As they look around the old mill, a series of events begin to unfold that are not only strange and chilling, but also unexplainable.

First there is the appearance of the strange Dr. Hooker and his three nutty female 'patients,' Lorna, Nan, and Dotty who have lost their way in the storm.

Add to this the strange Mr. Cordyce and his wife, the caretakers of the old mill who obviously know more than they are telling.

Things are going badly enough as it is when even another strange event occurs.

A body is found, stabbed in the heart, but when Kate goes back to show Lane, the victim has disappeared, much to the dismay of all.

To find out what happens when this unlikely turn of events occurs, and to enjoy a chilling murder drama, attend Bay High's production of 'Absolutely Murder,' in the Junior High Auditorium on Ulman Avenue.

Gifts to USM top quarter million

Private gifts to the University of Southern Mississippi for 1981 are up more than $112,000 over the same time last year.

Donations of $226,537 were reported for the year-to-date at the recent spring meeting of the USM Foundation Board of Directors.

The Foundation, established in 1959 to receive all private gifts to the University, has taken in over $5 million since that time. Much of that money represents student scholarships. A number of 'name' scholarships have been endowed over the years with enough funds to support full tuition expenses for students each year.

Moran M. Pope, foundation president, reported the sale of three lots given to the foundation for the benefit of the University.

The sale of these lots plus other contributions brought in more than $98,000 in a single day.

Pope also reported that Mrs. F.V. High of Hattiesburg and Tommy Munroe of Gulfport had joined the Foundation's "Partners in Progress" program.

Dr. Shelby F. Thames, USM

vice president for administration and regional campuses, addressed the board and discussed recent activities on campus.

He reported an enrollment increase of approximately 200 students during the year and said Southern continued to get its share of Legislative appropriations due to credit hours earned by students.

He also reported that an effort is being made to bring plans for the Health, Physical Education and Recreation building nearer the point of actual construction as soon as funds are available.

Hancock schools schedule early registration

A pre-school registration for children entering first grades in the Hancock County schools (Hancock Elementary, Gulfview and Charles B. Murphy) for the 1981-82 School Year will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, May 12 and 13, according to Billy D. Sills, superintendent.

Under state law, a child must be six years old on or before September 1, 1981 to be eligible for the 1981-82 school year, according to Sills.

A certified birth certificate will be required to establish the date of birth.

An immunization certificate will not be required for pre-registration but the child must have it the first day of the 1981-82 school year.

This certificate may be obtained from a public health office or a private physician.

USM summer dance deadline is May 12

May 12 is the deadline for applications to the University of Southern Mississippi Summer Dance program with the Pauline Koner Dance Consort and Jim Clinton of the Don Redlich Company in residence.

The five week summer dance session will include five classes for college credit June 2-July 3.

Classes to be taught include Modern Dance Technique, Ballet Technique, Jazz, Problems in Dance Composition, and a performance apprenticeship.

"This is the second summer we have been lucky to have the Koner group," said Patty Amacker, head of the USM Dance department. "It is one of the highlights in fine arts at USM to have this special group here."

Amacker is expecting an increase in applications after the rise experienced last year. High School graduates must have an ACT score of 15 and high school students (10-12) need a 25 ACT score to be admitted.

No summer jobs available, Alaska commissioner warns

The Alaska Department of Labor has issued a warning urging job seekers not to look to Alaska for work this summer season.

Commissioner of Labor Edmund N. Orbeck says "there are few jobs available in Alaska. The Alaska Highway Gas Pipeline Project has not begun construction in the state. Based on the most recent information from the project sponsor and governmental agencies, no significant Gas Line hiring will take place until at least 1983."

Alaska's unemployment rate averaged 10 percent for the year which is higher than the national average of 7 percent," according to Orbeck. Alaska continues to have a high cost of living.

"This year the federal hiring situation, the cuts in public service jobs and high interest rates continue to impact Alaska jobs to a greater degree than nationally due to Alaska's limited employment base," the Commissioner said.

There remains an excessive pool of unskilled labor throughout the state. Semi-skilled and skilled workers are available for the foreseeable future from those workers now residing in Alaska.

Job seekers should be warned of bogus advertisements offering high paying jobs or selling Alaska Job Kits for a certain dollar amount. This information is available for the cost of a postage stamp from the State of Alaska. Job seekers should not venture to Alaska looking for work unless they have a minimum of $2,000 and a return ticket home. Seek additional information before leaving home.

County Agent offices become Energy Information Centers

The Mississippi Energy Extension Service will gain 62 local offices Friday when each county agent's office in the state becomes an Energy Information Center.

Dr. W.M. Bost, director of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said each county office will begin serving as an energy information contact point for local people.

"The Cooperative Extension Service has had a local outlet for delivering educational information for a long time," Dr. Bost said.

"Extending the Energy Extension Service into this established line of contact with people is a natural step for us to take. Our programs serve rural, urban and suburban people, and the programs have proved their ability to reach audiences over the years."

Dr. Bost said the Energy Extension Service staff located at Mississippi State University will provide support for county agents working in energy-related programs. He said these programs are funded by the Mississippi Energy Transportation Board.

Agents also will be able to take advantage of information and programs coming through a network of agencies and organizations which have responsibility for energy education.

Dr. Bost said primary efforts in counties will focus on four major areas including helping the public with energy questions; assisting governments, schools and communities in energy conservation; cutting energy costs for restaurants and other small businesses; and working with limited-income residential areas to save energy expenses.

Dr. Bost said area energy agents also will be located in each of the four Cooperative Extension Service districts. He said their role will be to support county agents in coordinating and carrying out energy programs. They also will link local offices and other energy programs in Mississippi.

Management specialist offers tips on sales

MONEY TALK

By NORINE BARNES

Sales may offer some real bargains in basic items of clothing such as lingerie, blouses, skirts, pants and coats. But, the smart buyer keeps one thought in mind—why the item is on sale.

Be alert and find out why it reached the sale rack. Is it going out of style?

Check fashion magazines, read fashion articles and attend fashion shows to be "up" on the style trends.

If style doesn't matter to you, and you could still get a lot of wear from the garment this season, it could be a good buy.

Check to see if the item is damaged, soiled or shopworn. Before you buy a soiled garment, check carefully to see what caused it. Some soil and stains are difficult, if not impossible, to remove.

Is the construction of the garment shoddy? If all it needs is restitching of seams, replacing buttons or rehemming, the garment could be a good buy.

Is the item labeled as irregular or seconds? Irregulars have imperfections of color, size, weave or knit which probably will not affect the wearing quality of the garment. Seconds have flaws such as a mend, tear or run which usually show and affect wear. Examine each garment carefully before buying.

If you need the garment, if it fits in your present wardrobe, if it fits you and is becoming, then the sale item should be an economical buy. Remember, in order to be a bargain, the garment should fill a need.

A sale item is no bargain if you get it home and it's a color that doesn't go with anything in your wardrobe.

One very easy way to know if an item is a good buy is to have a list of items which will extend your wardrobe. As you make or purchase new clothes, put a small scrap of fabric in a "match-it" bag in your purse.

In ready-to-wear, snip a small piece of fabric from a seam, hem or facing.

You will always have it with you so you will know if the clothes on sale will coordinate with other items you already have.

drainage

It's time to start a regular drainage maintenance program in Bay St. Louis. We must establish a schedule that unclogs the major trouble spots first so that water from roadside ditches and gutters has somewhere to flow. Our present city employees can handle the program if the city sets up the maintenance schedule and provides the field training.

To do the job, it will take a new approach to running this city; it will take a new mayor.

Noonan served as secretary.

The committee's majority report was broken down into five sub-committee reports with Wilkinson presenting the first two.

He explained the chairman of the second sub-committee was unable to attend the Monday meeting.

Wilkinson said the first sub-committee report deals with rating students in the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District with national averages of students across the county. Wilkinson's committee achieved that comparison by using results of national tests to plot a graph comparing this school district's student averages with national student averages.

Wilkinson said the graphs and study by his sub-committee show, "our student's test scores are unacceptably low compared to national norms."

A graph which Wilkinson drew for the audience, of approximately 35 people, mostly concerned teachers, showed 53 percent of the 11th grade students in the school district scored in the lowest percentile quartile; between one and 25 percent of the national average.

Thirty percent scored between the 25 to 50 percentile national quartile; 14 percent scored in the 50 to 75 percentile quartile and three percent scored in the top 25 percent of the national average.

"Our performance closely matches the state performance," he said.

"This is not good," he added, "because the state is well below the national performance."

Wilkinson gave possible explanations for the poor test results, including a low socio-economic level of the community as a reason.

He said studies have shown the parent's income and educational background have a direct correlation to the results achieved by their children on national tests.

The subcommittee also listed, home environment; the school board, administrative policies and practices and classroom instructional techniques, as other possible reasons for the poor results, noting the school board has the power to take corrective action on all but the first.

Their report also noted students performed progressively worse in comparison to the national averages as they advanced upward through the grades.

"This suggests to our subcommittee that in addition to not meeting the needs of the students in the lower grades, our policy of 'social promotion' is also suspect," the report states.

Nell Woodall stated her concern for students who end up on the streets at an early age.

Both she and Wilkinson said they felt the students became frustrated with materials in the higher grades when they were not able to handle the material, because of being "pushed ahead" through the grades.

In view of the sub-committee One's study, sub-committee Two recommended action be implemented immediately to remedy the low test scores.

That committee also suggested implementing the Accountability and Instructional Management (AIM) program immediately, stating the program will significantly improve the quality of instruction offered by the district, provided there is adequate follow-up to insure strict implementation.

They noted regulations do not require the program be implemented until 1984 and recommended the program be implemented in 1981 or 1982.

The sub-committee also recommended expanding the staff of the reading supervisor to include one professional assistant.

They noted one person is now attempting to supervise the reading instruction in the elementary schools, and stated proper performance of the duties requires more time than is available for one person.

The sub-committee also recommended shop instruction be provided as an elective for all grades at the high school.

"This would certainly enlarge the opportunity for vocational instruction in the ninth and 10th grades and hopefully further reduce the student drop-out rate."

The sub-committee recommended a vocational program be made optional, beginning at the eighth grade level and continuing upward.

Their reasoning included providing students not interested in following a college preparatory program with an option to pursue a vocational career, noting curriculum including English, math and science, be modified to make subject matter more pertinent to a vocational program.

The sub-committee further recommended formal evaluation of teachers annually instead of the current rate of once every three to four years.

Establishing a curriculum for gifted students beginning with the fourth grade is also recommended.

Further recommendations by sub-committee Two include:

—Making every effort to assure availability of competent substitute teachers.

—Establishing a system of written evaluations on all administrators at least on an annual basis.

—Establishing a system of written evaluations on all teachers at least on an annual basis.

evaluations on their administrators to be submitted to the superintendent for action of the board;

—Requiring principals and assistant principals spend an average of five hours per week observing instruction in the classrooms; require a written report be filed in the appropriate teacher's performance file for each period of observation; require the teacher sign the report and be allowed to comment in writing on its contents with the teacher's comment to become part of the record;

—Establish a public school kindergarten program for this school system. The report states studies of children who attend pre-school are less likely to be assigned to special education classes or be held back;

—Initiate, on a regular basis, in-service training by introducing instruction from state or other outside sources for teachers aimed at improving and sharpening instructional techniques in the classroom;

—Design and implement a strong physical education program, which provides progressive daily instruction in the development of motor skills, plus instruction in health and hygiene; An explanation states the only serious attempts to achieve physical fitness includes mostly students involved in varsity athletics and neglects the children "most in need";

—Introducing an intramural sports program for all students;

—Invite parents to be partners with the school in the education of their children and hold meeting with parents to advise them of what part they can and should play in assisting the school and their children in both the school and at home.

The sub-committee report states it believes most parents are vitally concerned with the educational achievement of their children and do not know how to approach the schools concerning the matter. They recommend the school system take the initiative in establishing good public relations with the public;

—Implementing a mathematics tutorial program in the elementary grades using interested citizens as volunteers;

—Hire an experienced elementary teacher, preferably one, with an extensive background in mathematics, as the district's mathematics teacher in the elementary grades in the same manner the reading supervisor coordinates reading instruction;

—Hire an assistant principal for North Bay Elementary School. The committee explained that school has the highest enrollment of the four schools and stated both secondary schools have an assistant principal. They stated the principal's duties involve him in other matters which inhibit his opportunity to view faculty, facilities, etc.;

—Coordinate with the local Head Start Program in the provision of reading readiness instruction for pre-first grade children;

—Implement a compulsory reading class five days per week in the seventh grade, and prepare a plan for incorporating reading instruction in the eighth grade in the near future;

—Implement a reading tutorial program in the elementary grades using interested citizen volunteers.

Sub-Committee Three

Sub-committee Three was assigned to investigate and report on the comparison between the Mississippi State Accreditation and the Southern Association.

Currently the elementary schools are members of the Mississippi Accreditation while the junior and senior high schools are members of the Southern Association.

Bob Warner, speaking for sub-committee Three Chairperson Thomas Raphael, who was absent, said the two accreditation units are similar with the exception of two main points.

Varsity programs in the elementary schools, grades one through six are prohibited in Mississippi Accreditation and discouraged in grades seven and eight.

Southern Association makes no mention of the subject.

Also, the Mississippi Accreditation requires $10 to $15 per student for media services (books in the library) with a qualified librarian (a librarian with a college degree in library sciences) and stipulates there must be one librarian for every elementary school.

Southern Association requires a minimum of $5 per student for library books.

Tripling the amount of money now allocated per student in that area would be required to meet MS Accreditation.

Sub-Committee Four

Sub-committee Four studied the conditions of school buildings by personally inspecting the buildings and talking with each of the school's principals or administrators. Linda Penrose presented the committee's findings, stating, "It is our committee's findings that our system's building program should be given number one priority."

Schools studied in the report include Waveland Elementary School, North Bay Elementary, Bay Junior and Senior High Schools.

The sub-committee provided a description of the facility, enrollment, space utilization, general condition of facility. The Administrative staff library, classrooms, cafeteria, teacher's lounge, playground, parking and maintenance for each of the schools.

A general conclusion of assessment was also included with each school.

The sub-committee recommended establishing a long range building plan (25 years) for the school system.

Recommendations for that building program include: —Establishing a well defined maintenance schedule to insure many of the problems currently being experienced at the schools are not neglected.

—Initiating a rotating preventive maintenance program. Penrose said this type of program would continue on a rotating basis.

"By the time you finish all the schools then it will be time to start all over again," she said.

—Establishing routine inspection of all buildings in August of each school year and rendering a written assessment to the board of trustees;

—Having the board of trustees serve as an audit committee to check the deficiencies of those assessments to be certain the deficiencies are corrected;

—Constructing a new Junior High School facility with initial capacity of 700 students near the Senior High campus, including a band hall to be used by both schools while also constructing a shop area and other facilities necessary to comply with local, state and federal regulations;

—Renovating the present Junior High facility on Second Street in Bay St. Louis;

—Renovating North Bay Elementary; —Redistributing classes of all elementary schools, creating a 'middle elementary' of grades five and six at the present Junior High School;

—Recommending the board of trustees investigate sales tax increases, state and federal funds, grants, bonds, donations, or any combination of the preceding as ways of providing revenue;

—Agreeing with the trustee's recommendation to temporarily move the ninth grade students to the Senior High School and temporarily move the sixth grade students to the Junior High School but only as an emergency action;

—Recommending the school board investigate the possibility of holding Educational Finance Committee grant money, requested to be applied for by the superintendent, until the board can determine what action will be taken concerning renovations at North Bay Elementary.

A final section of the report explains immediate and long-range maintenance measures needed for each school.

Sub-Committee Five

Sub-committee Five recommendations, presented by Bob Delcuze, concerned finding available money to implement the recommendations of the other sub-committees.

Delcuze said there was very little money at the state level.

"There is a little surplus but not as much as what the charts show there is," he stated.

Recommendations from the committee were classified according to those which would require little or no funding, those which would require a bond issue for funding and those that would not require a bond issue.

All recommendations considered not to require a bond issue totaled $89,500.

Construction of a new Junior High complex to include a main building, cafeteria, shop, gymnasium and band hall is estimated at $2,720,000.

North Bay Elementary renovations, renovations to the existing Junior High and improvements to Waveland Elementary are set at $828,000.

Those two figures total $3,548,000 and are considered costs which necessitate a bond issue.

A conclusion of sub-committee Five states the committee recognizes the total cost is in excess of the amount which can legally be acquired by a bond issue at this time.

"This fact is the basis of the recommendation to establish a long range building plan and inclusion of the new Junior High and renovations in that plan," the report states.

The entire Needs Assessment Committee also agreed to several other recommendations.

Those recommendations are listed at the end of the approximately 100 page long report, and include:

—Agreeing to hire a curriculum specialist to determine and coordinate curriculum;

—Maintaining a 6-3-3 grade organization basis after the 1981-82 school year;

—Continuing the sports program in grades 5-12. The committee based this recommendation on a public hearing in the fall of 1980 and also stated there is a lack of community programs sponsored by the city or other agencies outside the schools to supply athletic programs.

—Investigation of providing semi-annual inspection of fire and safety alarms by an independent bonded inspection;

—Investigation of possibly using a contractor to perform janitorial work for the school;

—Additional recommendations submitted by majority groups are included in C section of today's paper.

You'd think that I wouldn't want to go near a crab for awhile, after coming out second best in an encounter with a cold, boiled crab claw on a plate, necessitating a few stitches in the littlest finger—but the finger and I healed fast, and there I was a few days later at the bayou's edge, getting ready to bait the crab traps again.

And, later, managing to avoid the live crabs' claws, I pulled up a goodly haul. So we enjoyed, that Coastal feast, boiled crabs, and I saved some out, so that we could enjoy another feast—stuffed crabs.

There are those cooks who use a lot of bread in their stuffed crabs, and those who use little at all. For my part, it depends upon how much crabmeat is on hand, though I prefer to stuff fewer shells than to stretch the crabmeat too much, for then you have a stuffing with not enough crab taste.

In fact, when the crabmeat is plentiful at our house, I like to mix it with chopped green onions and seasonings, and just enough mayonnaise to bind it together, drizzle lemon juice and buttered crumbs over, and bake.

At other times I use cream to bind the mixture together, and at still other times I make a cream sauce to mix with the crabmeat—but that's really not stuffed crabs as we know them. So, here's

STUFFED CRABS
CREOLE-COASTAL STYLE
3 tablespoons butter or margarine

¼ cup minced green onion
2 tablespoons minced celery leaves
2 tablespoons minced parsley

1 cup crabmeat
¼ to 1 cup bread cubes (preferably French bread)
¼ cup milk
1 egg, beaten

Dashes of salt and of pepper sauce

Melt the butter over medium heat and saute the onion and celery till soft. Then lower the heat a bit and add the crabmeat, parsley and seasonings and simmer for a few minutes.

Meanwhile, soak the bread cubes in the milk, add the beaten egg and mix well together, and add to the crabmeat mixture. Place in crab shells, sprinkle bread crumbs over and dot with butter.

Bake in 350 degrees F oven for about 15 or 20 minutes. (Four servings) I usually double or even triple the recipe.

Pour ½ cup dressing over potatoes, beans and onion; toss lightly. Cover; marinate in refrigerator several hours or overnight. Place in center of lettuce-lined platter; surround with tomatoes, egg and olives. Serve with additional dressing. For 4 to 6 to enjoy.

Knights' Notes

A brief report on the State Convention:

We were in error reporting it to be the 76th Annual State Convention, it should have read, 77th Annual State Convention.

Msgr. John J. Burns, Council No. 802, Meridian was the host council and their Grand Knight, Wiley Price Jr. was convention chairman.

We wish to commend Brother Price, and the entire Meridian Council, for their hospitality and a job well done.

The first business meeting dealt primarily with the appointment of committees.

Our delegates, Bob Hubbard and Leslie Blaize, were appointed to the service program and council activities committees, respectively.

Following this business meeting, a Friday Night Fish Fry was held at the Meridian

Council Hall.

This was followed by a "Las Vegas Nite."

Saturday, two business sessions were held, one at 9:30 a.m. and the other at 2 p.m.

At 10 a.m. our own Brother Joe Richardson attended a meeting for financial secretaries.

Saturday evening the Meridian Council again entertained with a hospitality hour, banquet and dance.

Awards were presented at the banquet. Pere Le Duc Council was recipient of a trophy for being the Council with the greatest increase in membership for 1980-81 - 125 percent above quota.

Pere Le Duc Council No. 1522 also was the second best for outstanding clubs in the state of 37 clubs.

Sunday began with a Mass and Communion at St. Patrick's Church in Meridian. The celebrant was Bishop Joseph B. Brunini of Jackson.

Later in the morning, the last business meeting was held with the election of officers for the forthcoming year.

Brothers elected were Father Frank Corcoran, Greenville, state chaplain; Don Oldmixon, Poplarville, state deputy; Robert Fratesi, Greenville, state secretary; Wiley Price Jr., Meridian, state treasurer; Denis E. Ladnier Sr., Biloxi, state advocate; and Michael Leleux, Kiln, state Warden.

The 1982 convention will be hosted by Biloxi Council No. 1244, and the 1983 convention will be hosted by the Msgr. P.J. Carey Council No. 1605, Pascagoula.

Many members of the Ladies Auxiliary attended.

The ladies had a schedule of business meetings, luncheons, tours, in addition to their contribution of setting up and manning the many hospitality rooms.

The hospitality rooms were absolutely great. Some featured boiled shrimp or crawfish, others had raw oysters, shrimp salad, cold cuts, hot roast beef sandwiches, etc.

They also had endless varieties of drinks.

Don't forget the forthcoming meetings:

Ladies Auxiliary Meeting, Thursday May 14, K of C Hall, 8 p.m.

Corporate Mass and Communion at St. Clare's Church, Waveland on May 10, 9 a.m.

K of C general meetings, Mondays, May 4 and 18 at 8 p.m.

Crowning of the Blessed Virgin, Sunday May 3, at 2 p.m. Legion of Mary and the Knights of Columbus join together in this presentation which will take place at Our Lady of the Woods Shrine.

Forty attend pre-Cana class

Pre Cana classes were held Saturday and Sunday, April 25 and 26, at St. Joseph's Parish Hall in Gulfport. Forty couples attended the 2-day program.

Pre Cana is a pre-marriage program dealing with the different aspects of marriage. Topics discussed were on expectations of marriage; communication; decision-making; practicalities; spirituality; sexuality; and parenthood.

The purpose of Pre Cana is to present the essential human and Christian aspects of marriage, so the couple will be fully aware of the total dimension of the marriage covenant.

Pre Cana is given six times a year. The next one will be July 25 and 26. It is sponsored by Catholic Social Services' Family Life Office. For more information you may contact Mrs. Beth Riley, Associate Director of Family Life, 863-1666.

Sponge crab hearing set

At a regular meeting April 21, the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife Conservation considered lifting the ban on the taking of sponge crabs.

No action was taken, and this matter will be on the agenda again when the commission meets on May 22.

Anyone wishing to comment may address remarks to the Director, Bureau of Marine Resources, P.O. Drawer 959, Long Beach, Ms. 39560.

Also, persons may appear before the Commission and express their views directly.

The Commission will meet at 9 a.m. in the supervisor's meeting room, Harrison County Courthouse, Biloxi.

Wildlife Federation lists summer schedules

The nation's largest non-profit citizens conservation organization, the National Wildlife Federation, has made its summer vacation plans: 12 back-to-nature vacations designed for young campers, singles, couples, and entire families.

The vacations recommended for entire families of nature enthusiasts are NWF's unique six-day Conservation Summits, which emphasize conservation education and nature exploration.

This year's summits will be held at conference centers in the Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina, June 20 to 26; the Rocky Mountains of Colorado, July 5 to 11; the Adirondack Mountains of New York, July 9 to 25; and on the shores of Green Lake in Wisconsin, August 8 to 14.

A summit is an intensive exposure to a wide variety of conservation-related subjects. The surrounding mountains, lakes, and streams are the textbooks and classrooms.

Teachers are environmental educators, and the students pre-register for up to three workshops a day, in such subjects as nature drawing, backpacking basics, astronomy, or outdoor cooking.

Teachers and students can receive college credit while attending the summits.

At their leisure, summiteers can play tennis, ride horses, swim, hike, or make field trips.

Evening entertainment includes dancing, nature films, demonstrations of traditional crafts, or environmental forums. Babysitting and daycare are available.

For adventurers between 13 and 17, NWF is pioneering a new wilderness backpacking program: Earth Trek, a twelve-day excursion into the Blue Ridge Mountains near Brevard, North Carolina. Teenage trekkers can choose one of four sessions: June 20 to July 29; July 12 to 23; July 26 to August 6; or August 9 to 20.

Designed for beginning and novice backpackers, the co-educational hiking groups will study beside mountain streams, learn about the development of forestry and how to use natural science to appreciate the problems of wilderness overuse, hikers will trek to mountain tops reaching up to 6,000 feet in elevation. Two professional adult environmental educators will lead these groups of twelve through the Shining Rock Wilderness Area and Pisgah National Forest. Each backpacker will receive a list of suggested clothing and equipment. Earth Trek will provide backpacks and a twelve-day supply of food.

For younger adventurers, NWF has an award-winning summer program designed exclusively for campers nine to 13: Ranger Rick Wildlife Camps. Held in four 12-day sessions, the co-educational wildlife camps are located near Henderson, North Carolina, in the Blue Ridge Mountains. This year's sessions will be from June 20 to July 9; July 11 to July 22; July 25 to August 5; and August 8 to 21.

At Ranger Rick Wildlife Camp, youngsters select a "quest"—a topic for environmental or cultural exploration. Birds and small creatures, lakes and streams, and insects and energy are a few of the quests. First aid and wilderness survival, folklore, backpacking, swimming, boating, and tennis can be "mini-quests" for energetic campers. NWF's Wildlife Camp received a certificate of recognition by the President's Environmental Youth Awards program in 1979.

Faculty at both Summits and Camps consists of college students and graduate teachers, and the Federation's staff experts. At Wildlife Camp and Trek, the ratio of campers to staff is just six to one.

Costs for a family of four at a Conservation Summit range from $800 to $1,000, which includes tuition, accommodations, and meals for the week. At Wildlife Camp cost per youngster is $325 for the 12-day session and $375 for the 14-day session. Trek costs $320 per hiker. At Wildlife Camp and at most Conservation Summits, arrangements are made for charter busing to and from local airports.

For further information about NWF's summer programs, write the National Wildlife Federation, Dept. PL, 1412 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Basketball camp planned at 'W'

The 1981 Mississippi University for Women basketball camp will be held under the direction of Dot Easterwood Murphy, MUW basketball coach, May 31 through June 5.

The camp will be for girls from the 7th grade through high school.

Ms. Murphy will be assisted by Charlotte Jackson, who served as captain of the 1978 MUW basketball team and head coach of St. Aloysius High for two years.

Murphy has had 13 years of camp experience and is a former All-American player who has received honorable mention to the National Basketball Hall of Fame.

Murphy pointed out several purposes of the camp.

"We want to present the very best instruction possible on ball handling, offensive and defensive techniques and game strategy. We will video tape players as a part of their instruction," said Murphy.

"We want each player to have an opportunity to participate in other sports such as tennis, swimming and racquetball and to get to know how to know and play basketball with other campers," added Murphy.

"Most of all we would like to improve their interest and inspire the campers in the great sport of basketball," continued Murphy.

The camp fees will be $100 per week, which will cover room, board, camp tuition, insurance and one camp T-shirt.

Fee for commuters will be $80 per week.

The camp will be held in the new Emma Ody Pohl Physical Education-Assembly Building on the MUW campus.

For an application and additional information, prospective campers should write: MUW Basketball Camp, Box W-1400, MUW, Columbus, Miss. 39701. Campers who have already obtained applications, should EXPERIENCE is an important quality in the Mayor's Office. Mayor Larry Bennett has that experience.

During the past four years Bay St. Louis has enjoyed a great deal of progress under the administration of Mayor Bennett. With the assistance of numerous federal grants, the cooperation and help of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, and the wise and economic use of the taxpayers money, sewer and water facilities and improved streets have been provided to areas of our City which never before had them.

In the next four years, with the full cooperation of the City Council, Mayor Bennett plans to bring major improvements to the entire City. Each citizen deserves adequate sewer and water facilities, paved streets, good drainage, and non-leaking gas lines. With the assistance of available federal grants and a sensible set of priorities, these goals can be a reality.

Bay St. Louis has progressed a great deal in the past four years. Mayor Bennett would like another four years to continue the growth of our great City.

Curley Ladner moves into Downs Winners Circle

(SPECIAL TO THE SEA COAST ECHO) PEARL RIVER, La.—The Old Gray Mare might not be what she used to be, but it was good enough to put owner Cedric (Curley) Ladner of Necaise Crossing into the winner's circle Sunday at Oak Downs.

The Old Gray Mare overtook a game Tracey in the stretch to capture the 3-furlong sixth race. Richard Graham, who resides near the Dedeaux community, was the winning trainer.

The Old Gray Mare was the lone Hancock County horse to post a win Sunday at the Pearl River quarterhorse and thoroughbred track.

The quarterhorse feature race of the afternoon produced the top performance.

Mr. Easy Bug, owned by Charles Curtis of Harrison County, easily disposed of Marie's Boy, owned by Oak Downs operator Louis Smith of Gulfport, by recording a Class AAA time of :22.22 seconds for the quarter-mile distance.

Marie's Boy was several lengths back a :22.78. Jeff Peterman of Gulfport was the winning rider.

Curtis, a former Hancock County resident, made it a double for the day when his Bill's Paid ripped off a Class AA clocking of :20.81 for 400 yards in whipping Little Chester, owned by Richard Shows of Gulfport, by several lengths. Again, Peterman was in the irons.

In another good performance, Miss Fiber Test, owned by Elmo Harless of Hattiesburg, captured the 400-yard fourth race with a Class AA time of :20.95, and easily outran three challengers.

Harless also was a double winner. His Billy The Frog won the 5-furlong first race with a clocking of 1:08.65. During the race, Red Bayou Man, sent to the post by James Watson of Waveland, failed to make the first turn and crashed into the outside railing.

Jockey Marty Comfort of The Kiln jumped clear as the horse hit the rail, but the animal broke his rear right leg and had to be destroyed.

Three of last Sunday's winners have been matched against challengers on next Sunday's racing program.

Bill's Paid will be going against Some Kind of Bad in a 350-yard test for a $2,000 purse at 5 p.m.

At 3:30 p.m., Omega Diana will take on Donnie Thompson's 3-year-old Lina in a 100-yard race also featuring a $2,000 purse. Omega Diana won last Sunday's 250-yard third race in :13.98 against Breezy and Bay Star Charger.

Both Some Kind of Bad and Omega Diana are owned by V.L. Thomas of Bogalusa and trained by John Paul Amacker of Poplarville.

Go Royal Jet, owned by Donald Fornea, will be running 350-yards against Cookie's Red Boy, owned by H.E. Summers of Grand Bay, Ala. Go Royal Jet won last week's 350-yard fifth race in a Class A clocking of :18.84 against four challengers.

Tennis camp slated May 31

David Misner, tennis coach at Mississippi University for Women, will conduct a special tennis camp during the week of May 31 through June 6.

"The tennis camp at MUW is always a special week for me. Each year seems to be better than the previous one," said Misner of his tennis camp.

"The opportunities to learn the sport of tennis and develop new friendships, always within an atmosphere of fun, are what makes it so special," added Misner.

"Our staff is the key to our camp. Each is a fine tennis player and instructor, but beyond that, each is a conscientious young lady who takes a genuine interest in every girl. We strive to make our tennis camp enjoyable and fun," continued Misner.

The camp will be on a first-come basis. Girls 12-17 years may attend.

The entire cost of the camp is $135 for live-in campers and $100 for commuters. This includes deposit, camp fee for room and board, injury insurance, certificate of attendance and a camp T-shirt.

Housing will be in a MUW dormitory. The dorm is air-conditioned. Rooms will be assigned according to the camper's designated roommate preference. Staff members will be located on each floor to insure close supervision and safety.

Deadline for entry applications will be May 22 with no refunds after May 19.

For further information on the tennis camp, contact David Misner, P. O. Box W-1400, Mississippi University for Women, Columbus, Miss. 39701. Checks should be made payable to MUW and applications mailed to the above address.

Snapping turtle frequently wasted

By TOM HOAR
DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN
NEWS SERVICE

The old fisherman watched eagerly as his bobber first twitched and then danced on the surface of the water. His face was wrinkled, his hands scarred and worn, but as the bobber was slowly pulled beneath the surface, he seemed to regain some of his long-lost youthful enthusiasm for fishing.

The minnow that he was using as bait was a "sure-fire" lure. By the action of the bobber, he thought that it was probably a big bass that had taken interest in his offering.

Once the bobber had been pulled under, he set the hook with an upward sweep of his arms. He was stopped short; the bamboo pole that he used began to splinter but held. He knew that he had not hooked a bass. The resistance was too solid.

He couldn't lift whatever it was that he had hooked from the water, but he got a glimpse of it. Cursing his "bad" luck, the fisherman backed away from the water, pulling behind him a huge snapping turtle.

Holding the big reptile by its long tail, and being very careful not to let its snapping jaws reach any part of him, the fisherman drew his .22 pistol and shot the "pest" in the head, killing it instantly. He then threw the carcass in a nearby ditch to rot, unused.

Unfortunately, too many fishermen follow this pattern. They often don't recognize just how good the snapping turtle is to eat. They only see it as a menace and a pest.

Some Mississippians, however, know just how delicious snapping turtles taste.

A turtle is all "white meat." The flesh is firm and tender. It is excellent in soups, stews and gumbos. Nonetheless, turtle meat is difficult to buy in grocery stores; mainly because most don't carry it. Those that do, often charge more for it per pound than they do their finest steaks.

Such stores usually don't have snapping turtle, but it is difficult to tell the difference. Moreover, snapping turtle meat can be acquired much more cheaply.

Snapping turtles live in just about every pond, lake and reservoir in Mississippi. They are detrimental to fish populations, kill and eat waterfowl, and can be dangerous to humans.

Snappers grow to be giants. Many are as large as 20 to 30 pounds. Many grow larger. A sub-species, the alligator snapper, often reaches the 150-pound mark. More than one unwary fisherman has lost fingers or toes to them.

Sophisticated fishing tackle isn't needed to take snapping turtles. "Bank lines," or cotton cords eight to ten feet in length, produce well. One end is attached to an overhanging branch or tree while the other is baited with dead fish or other meat.

The baited end is then weighted and thrown into the water. Lines should be checked at least twice daily.

Again, snapping turtles can be dangerous. Once killed, a turtle can easily be cleaned by separating the top shell from the underside. The meat can then be cut away and rinsed.

There is no closed season on turtles and no limit.

DENTAL CARE FOR DOGS

Most dog owners feel they know how to keep their pets in good health. They arrange for the proper vaccinations, groom their pets regularly, and feed them a balanced diet.

But they forget the basics of good dental care, including feeding dry foods, providing hard chew toys, and having the veterinarian check the pet's mouth.

I recommend the hard nugget type of pet food because it scrapes the tooth surfaces clean as the animal eats. It is a good substitute for the rough-textured foods that animals find in the wild.

Wolves, coyotes, and the like rarely develop dental problems because they chew on raw meat and gnaw on bones.

Too many domestic pets eat softened bite-sized pieces of processed food that contain considerable amounts of sugar and starch.

The soft food particles combine with saliva through the action of bacteria to form tartar — a sticky substance which hardens and forms brownish rings around the base of the teeth.

This accumulation of tartar irritates gum tissue, forcing the gum away from the base of the tooth. The gum swells and bleeds, and the tooth finally falls out.

Tartar is also a common cause of bad breath in dogs.

There are some dogs that refuse to eat dry foods. You can slow the buildup of tartar for these pets by giving them bones — particularly knuckle or shin bones — to chew on.

Some synthetic bones or hard rubber toys are also good. Chicken or other soft bones, and soft rubber toys, are of little value. If your pet is cooperative, you can use a moist cotton ball dipped in table salt to clean tooth surfaces close to the gum line.

In advanced cases of tartar buildup, professional assistance is necessary. Your veterinarian can remove tartar including that below the gum line, as the first phase of treatment. Teeth that are too loose to be saved will be extracted.

When you check your dog's teeth for tartar, you'll notice that the teeth are different shapes and sizes. The small teeth across the front of the mouth are incisors, and are used for cutting.

The longer, pointed teeth on the sides of the mouth are the canines, and are also used for cutting off pieces of food.

Farther back in the mouth are the premolars and the somewhat larger molars for gripping and chewing. The typical healthy dog will have about 42 teeth; each will be firmly anchored in the jaw by surrounding gum tissue.

Dogs will occasionally crack or chip a tooth during a dog fight, or by chewing on rocks and other debris when they are bored. If the dog shows no sign of pain or discomfort, the remains of the fractured tooth can stay in place indefinitely.

However, if a broken tooth interferes with the dog's eating habits or causes it to drool saliva, then the pet does need professional attention.

Good dental care is also important if you plan to show a purebred dog. In some areas, particularly in Europe, show dogs with missing teeth may be considered flawed and be penalized. And a dog whose teeth are stained with tartar certainly does not make the best impression on the judge in the ring.

Bay schools ad hoc committee files two minority reports

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are the full texts of two minority reports submitted Monday to the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District's Board of Trustees by the board's ad hoc Educational Needs Assessment Committee. The committee's 100-page Majority Report was not made available in time for inclusion in the pages of this section of today's Sea Coast Echo. A report on the special school board meeting Monday night at which these reports were submitted by the committee can be found on Page 1.

INTRODUCTION

With relatively few exceptions, which will be specified later, the undersigned minority agrees with most of the recommendations contained in the majority report. Our objection to the majority report pertains more to what is omitted than to what is included.

We believe that the major task of the Educational Needs Assessment Committee was to submit realistic remedies for the educational failings of this district.

By "realistic remedies" we mean remedies which can be implemented within available financial resources. The majority report does not address this problem. It simply recommends new programs and the priority in which they should be funded. The majority report does not propose a source for these new funds. This report does.

In the Board's precept to this committee, one of the instructions is to "determine the desirability of deleting, combining, or otherwise modifying marginal existing programs."

By not addressing this aspect of the study, the majority has tacitly accepted all existing programs without reservation. The minority opinion of the committee takes a different view.

We have scrutinized existing programs of this district from the following three aspects and have made our recommendations accordingly.

(a) Does the program in any way reduce the effectiveness of the existing instructional program?

(b) Will the modification or elimination of this existing program seriously impede the availability of well rounded academic and activity programs which benefit the majority of students?

(c) Does the modification or elimination of this existing program make money available to implement essential instructional programs.

The answers to these three questions, coupled with our determination to give first priority to the instructional needs of our school system, have forced the minority to make some hard choices — choices which the majority has avoided.

Our recommendations, based on these choices, and our comments on the majority recommendations with which we disagree are submitted for your serious consideration in the following sections.

Comments and Recommendations

1. Organization of the school district. The minority does not agree with the majority recommendation that next year's 5-3-4 organization be considered an emergency measure. The clear implication of the majority's recommendation is that the current 6-3-3 organization is better.

The minority believes that the 5-3-4 organization is superior and recommends that it be adopted by the Board of Trustees as the plan for the foreseeable future. We believe that curriculum planning and program deletions and modifications should proceed on the basis of the 5-3-4 organization.

Accordingly, the curriculum-program changes proposed in paragraph 2, below, are based on adoption of the 5-3-4 organization.

There are several reasons for preferring the 5-3-4 plan:

(a) It makes the most efficient use of presently available space, and the only space that will be available for the next several or more years.

(b) It groups students into more compatible age groupings than exist under the current organization.

(c) It will facilitate the addition of a kindergarten program at the elementary schools when facilities and money for such a program become available.

(d) It would facilitate the curriculum-program improvements proposed in paragraph 2, below.

Athletic Director

Another major organizational change

recommended by the minority is the deletion of the position of athletic director in this school system.

If the changes proposed in paragraph 2, below, are accepted, there will clearly be no need for the position.

Even if all the proposed changes are not accepted, we still question the present need to fill this position.

According to State Department of Education reports, ours is the smallest school district in the state with an athletic director.

We believe that coaches could deal directly with the system's business manager in matters relating to bidding

Young, Johnston lead Bay High graduates

Vickie Marie Young, with a 96.1 average through her four years of high school, is valedictorian of the Bay St. Louis High Class of 1981.

Salutatorian of the 135-member class is Paula Sue Johnston who maintained a 96.0 four-year average.

The class leaders were announced this week by Robert V. Magee, Bay High principal.

Young is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.C. Young of Pearlinton. Johnston's parents are Mrs. Pauline Johnston of Bay St. Louis and the late Jesse J. Johnston.

Young, who was picked "Most Likely to Succeed" by her classmates, has been an Alpha Honor Roll Student throughout high school and a member of the National Honor Society.

She has been a member of the Art, French, Latin, Safety and Science Clubs and the Student Council.

As a senior, she is president of the Business and French Clubs and secretary of the Latin Club.

She is the state president of the Mississippi Youth Traffic Safety Club and the southeast representative for the National Student Safety Program.

Young has been designated a Governor's Scholar and has tied for first place as a finalist in the International Science and Engineering Fair to be held in Milwaukee, Wis. May 11-16.

This year she received first place in the American Legion Oratorical Contest at the local, district, and South Mississippi level, and second place in the state.

Throughout high school, she has consistently received many of the top awards at the local, district and state science fairs, including the Army Award, Air Force Award, the International Wildlife Learning Center Award, and the Army Bronze Medallion.

She was co-captain of the Tiger Pride Flag Corps in tenth grade, and captain in eleventh and twelfth grades, and has received the Most Outstanding Flag Twirler Award for two years.

As a junior, Vickie received a certificate of merit for achievement in the national French examination, and as a sophomore, received a Magna Cum Laude award for the national Latin examination.

Johnston has been an Alpha Honor Roll student throughout high school and has held membership in the Spanish and the Future Homemakers of America Clubs.

She has also been a member of the Bay High Chorus, and a two year member of the National Honor Society.

As a senior, Johnston is a member of the Business Club and a Volunteer Office and Classroom Aide.

Minority Reports,

Continued from

and purchasing of supplies and equipment for the varsity athletic programs and directly with the coaches of the other schools in scheduling matters.

Physical education teachers at all schools would work directly with their principals in fulfilling the requirements for the intramural sports programs and the physical education programs.

2. Curriculum-program improvements. The minority is in agreement with the recommendations for instructional improvements contained in the majority report except when such recommendations are in conflict with the recommendations submitted below.

We strongly disagree with the majority recommendation which states that the district should continue the current varsity type athletic program in grades five through twelve.

We recommend instead that inter-scholastic athletics below the ninth grade be discontinued and that, if desired, a junior varsity or B-team program be implemented at the 4-year high school to supplement the varsity program.

Implementation of such a recommendation would have several advantages.

(a) It would remove one of the two major impediments to Southern Association accreditation of the elementary schools and would comply with the Southern Association's recommendation concerning athletics at the middle school.

(b) It would remove a major distraction to students' concentration on academic studies at the all-important elementary grades.

(c) It would remove a major obstacle to a truly homogenous academic grouping of students at the middle school.

(d) Time, facilities, and personnel would become available at the middle school to conduct meaningful physical education and intramural sports programs.

(e) It would permit the implementation of a strong physical education program providing progressive, daily instruction in the development of motor skills for all students in grades 1 through 5.

In grades 6 through 8 it would permit continued development of motor skills and facilitate the introduction of an intramural sports program, plus instruction in health and hygiene.

At the high school a strong intramural sports program should be continued for those who do not participate in varsity athletics. Such a program does not now exist on the scale proposed here.

By extending the benefits of a well-rounded physical education and intra-mural sports program to all the students, our system will provide more than just lip service to the "sound mind in a strong body" concept of youth development.

Intramurals
As added support for the foregoing recommendation, we would point out our belief that a strong intramural program, enthusiastically supported by the staff and faculty will more than adequately fill the gap caused by eliminating varsity athletics in the middle school and will benefit more students.

For those students whose major goal is to participate in varsity athletics, it will provide an incentive to remain in school at least until the ninth grade when such a program will be available. The money savings under this concept will be significant.

BAND

Another program which we recommend for minor modification is the band program. We recommend that, in accordance with the S-34 organization, the band program be discontinued below the 8th grade. We believe that band is a valuable program in any school system, and we accept that there are advantages to early training of band members.

Our recommendation is based on our belief that the instructional advantage of freeing elementary age children from the distractions resulting from extra-curricular activities outweighs the advantage to those extra-curricular activities.

Our recommendation would make band instruction available from the 6th through the 12th grades.

Currently, band instruction is provided from the 5th through the 12th grades. There is a money saving involved here, also.

Supervision

The majority report includes recommendations to hire a mathematics supervisor, an assistant to the reading supervisor, and a curriculum coordinator.

The minority strongly supports the assistant to the reading supervisor and the mathematics supervisor, but opposes the hiring of a curriculum coordinator.

We believe that coordination of the efforts of a special education supervisor, a Title I supervisor, the district psychologist, a reading supervisor, and a mathematics supervisor is well within the span of control capabilities of the superintendent or assistant superintendent.

We believe that our funds would be better spent on supervisory personnel who are closer to the classroom level where supervision is needed than on a coordinator who is at least one level higher than a supervisor.

In fact, in our opinion, the hiring of a curriculum coordinator could well delay remedial action rather than facilitate it.

Music and Art

The minority believes that music and art instruction conducted by qualified teachers should be included in the curriculum as mandatory enrichment subjects in the elementary grades and as electives in the 6th grade and above.

These programs will broaden the intellectual horizons of all students and assist them to identify areas of special interest or aptitude.

Testing

The minority recommends that the school system adopt a procedure whereby only one person per school is assigned to administer standardized tests to those grades participating in the Mississippi Educational Assessment Program.

We recommend this because in investigating standardized tests in connection with this committee's work, we learned how very important it is that the tests be administered uniformly to assure validity of the test scores.

The present practice is for classroom teachers to administer the tests in the elementary grades; the more people involved in the administration, the less uniformity there is.

The argument was presented in the full committee, which rejected this recommendation, that the tests for the elementary grades are normed for administration in the students' own classrooms by their own classroom teachers.

This is not the case according to the test manufacturer's handbook. The handbook does recommend that in grades K through 3 the test be administered in the familiar surroundings of the students' own classrooms in groups not exceeding thirty, but it makes no recommendation concerning administration by each student's own teacher.

Our recommendation, however, does not concern grades below the 4th because the Mississippi Educational Assessment program currently tests only grades 4, 6, and 8.

The test manufacturer's handbook permits groups larger than single classroom size for the administration of tests to these grades. We recommend that one staff member at each elementary school be trained to administer the California Achievement Test to students of the 4th grade to insure that the tests are given under standard conditions.

It is assumed that the guidance counselors at the higher grades will continue to serve as test administrators as is now the case.

Grade Consolidation

Another area we recommend for your consideration is a plan to convert all elementary grades (1 through 5) to self-contained classes. Two major objections were voiced in full committee discussions.

First, the opinion was expressed that teachers in the 4th and 5th grades need to be specialized in certain subject areas in order to properly present the instruction.

Second, the fear was expressed that if the student was assigned to a bad teacher, he would suffer a serious learning loss.

We reject the first objection on the grounds that any qualified elementary teacher

Southern Association accreditation.

We believe that such accreditation will improve the quality of instruction in our elementary schools, and that, by improving the status and raising the standards of our system, will benefit the community both socially and economically.

Some of our school administrators have expressed the opinion that Southern Association accreditation is merely an expensive status symbol and that Mississippi AA accreditation is superior to accreditation by the Southern Association.

If the Board of Trustees sincerely believes that is the case, then we believe the board should take steps to terminate our present Southern Association accreditation of the junior and senior high schools and sever all relations with the association.

In our opinion, this school district does not have enough money to allow it to pursue meaningless and expensive status symbols.

Bond Issue Items

The minority is listing its recommendations concerning the items it thinks should be obtained through a bond issue even though the consensus of the minority is that a bond issue is unlikely to be approved.

We base this opinion on the following factors:

- (a) The number of families who send their children to private schools.
- (b) The number of elderly in the community who have no children in school.

Minority Reports,

Continued

from 3C

(c) The general financial situation — low salaries, high taxes, and inflation.

(d) The lack of community confidence in the administration and performance of the school system.

Part of this problem stems from the absence of effective public relations by the school system except when attempting to pass a bond issue.

However, in the event a bond issue would succeed, the minority recommends the following priority in the expenditure of its proceeds:

6 classrooms and cafeteria at North Bay
4 classrooms at Waveland North Bay and Junior High renovations
Waveland improvements (fencing and parking area)

We estimate the cost of the above program at approximately $2,000,000, which we understand is the approximate current limit of our bonding capability.

We believe that our minority recommendation is more realistic than the proposal contained in the majority report for the simple reason that the majority's first priority exceeds the district's bonding capability.

We also believe that our proposal is superior to the administrators' building plan because it provides almost the same number of classrooms at much less initial cost and operating costs than would be generated by construction of a new school.

Our plan is designed to provide in the fastest possible time the space needed to initiate a kindergarten program which is so sorely needed in the school system.

4. Conclusion. There are several subjects which have not been discussed in either the majority report or the minority report.

This was due primarily to the complexity of these subjects, the need for extensive research and surveys, and the resulting lack of time to study all the problems involved.

We are referring to community-adult education programs in the city schools, the cost savings which would result from consolidation of the two school systems in Hancock County, and the desirability-possibility of establishing an industrial arts-voc-tech program at the high school to meet the needs of the 9th and 10th grades on that campus.

We recommend that the Board of Trustees take the initiative in investigating these areas.

We believe that we have faced the issues squarely in this minority report, and we have made our choices.

The choices we have made have been difficult ones, but our choices have been limited by the ever-present problem of money.

Only a small percentage of a district's budget is susceptible to reappointment on the basis of restructured priorities.

We have assigned our top priority to improved learning in the classroom; we believe that the standardized test scores of this district's students make any other choice unthinkable.

We hope that the Board, too, will assign its top priority to improved learning in the classroom, and that you will be willing to face and make the hard choices that must be made.

We believe, and hope you do, too, that the bottom line in any school's performance is what goes on in the classroom.

We believe that our recommendations have focused on that problem.

Minority Report Concerning the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District, submitted by Linda Penrose.

INTRODUCTION
I was very proud to have been chosen as a representative for the City of Waveland.

It was my understanding that all members were to actively participate. Having attended every meeting held since my appointment, I feel that the organization or city which appointed members would be very disappointed in finding that it may not have been represented as well as it should have after observing the attendance of these meetings; there were many faithful followers, but there were also those who rarely attended.

This has been a grand experience. Sitting back now after all the work is behind us, I wouldn't trade it for anything.

We've learned a lot about our school system, but most of all, I feel that good will come out in the end; our administrators will benefit; our teachers will benefit; the parents should benefit; but most of all — the students — that's what we're here for.

It is noted that the board had the foresight to set forth that it would accept minority reports for consideration; this is important as some person may touch on areas that were not considered in the final report of the committee.

I am sure that these minority reports would not carry as much weight as the majority, but each person should be entitled to his opinion concerning matters of such importance.

I, myself, agree totally with the contents of the Majority Report.

Progression was slow when approving, or disapproving, each recommendation which came before the membership. Careful consideration was given to each and every recommendation.

There were approvals to recommendations as written, amendments, deletions, and some were totally thrown out.

Some which were not accepted may have failed simply because of wording or implications. The committee considered every word of each recommendation on the floor.

The Majority Report bears the fruit of many, many hours of a labor of love. The world belongs to the future generation. We need to prepare them now for what lies ahead of them.

It saddens me to think of those few who may one day wonder why our generation didn't do more for them while they were in school.

Our "good of school days" don't last very long and we should do everything in our power to make these students' environment as pleasant as possible and give them every academic opportunity available.

BASIC ACADEMICS
As concurred in the Majority Report, a "back to basics" attitude should be outstanding for without it a pupil will never make it; this reason could account for many dropouts — their inability to keep up with the rest of their classmates — a feeling of rejection by their teachers.

They can't read, write or spell — why should they be expected to make it through graduation?

We need these basics in grades 1 through 3. Who cares if a first grader knows his environmental science, ecology or career education?

I feel they are an important tool when implemented in reading programs but how can this small child retain all that is being thrown at him in these first important years.

For some, maybe a great many, school is a new experience; learning to write his alphabet, spell his name, and read his first word is a great milestone. If we push too much, too fast, it's easy to see how they could be discouraged too soon.

Once he's on his way in reading, he learns to comprehend — here is the main objective which should be carried through for the rest of his life. Then he'll be able to learn the names of all our Presidents, the dates they were in office, what they did and how they did it. If they can't understand what they're reading they have no chance.

The same is true with spelling and mathematics. Repeat the above and we have a child who will most likely lead in his academic class.

Teachers are very important at this stage. Our best-trained teachers should be used in Grades 1-3. If we have a child who unfortunately is placed with a teacher who does not realize the importance of the "3 R's" and only the importance of knowing the answers to all the questions in all of the subjects (in those first years), the child doesn't have a chance to master any subject much less all.

Other subjects are important when implemented in a plan, and before long he will be able to comprehend and remember what he is reading. This will be a good student. He'll actually enjoy learning when he understands (ask your teachers).

PHYSICAL EDUCATION
We must think of our students' physical well-being. When I attended Bay High, our P. E. class didn't sit on the bleachers of the gym studying or just plain playing.

Every student "dressed out" and was required to participate. If we weren't all lying on the floor kicking our feet in the air, touching our toes, or doing sit-ups, we were playing basketball, baseball or just plain running.

This is a P. E. program. What happened to it? I feel that here again we should "get back to basics" — get a good P. E. program instituted that will get these kids in shape. We also need a health and hygiene program to complete the package.

This is all for the students' benefit. Our grammar school children would thrive on a good P. E. program; they could all learn how to bounce that ball, kick that ball or throw that ball if they only had instruction and a chance to do it.

ATHLETIC PROGRAM
It is my feeling that there are many who bear the opinion that every penny spent on the athletic program is a penny wasted. Our system does indeed spend a "great many pennies" on this program.

There are many expenditures made that I feel are probably not planned as well as they should be. We certainly need to provide our students with every opportunity to develop themselves in the sports field, but I don't feel we need to go on the "Cadillac Plan."

The board should screen the expenditures of the athletic department; I don't believe the board would want to purchase "everything and the best" in the athletic program when a small savings in capitol here would mean more specimens for the lab, extra money in the home economics budget, more audio-visual material, or a new school yard bench.

Why should our system pay so much in costs each year for football jerseys when wise shopping and a small savings on each might mean extra money to purchase construction paper for "mommy and daddy's Christmas card I made myself (with only a little help from teacher)."

The quantity or quality may not need to be cut down, but wise, supervised shopping for supplies needed in this department may add up to quite a savings for the system.

BAND PROGRAM
I don't feel that I'm alone when I say that our band students are getting the short end of the stick. What happened to their band hall at the high school?

How old is our senior high now — 15 years?

I feel that in a span of 15 years something could have been done to find the funds necessary to construct some sort of facility to house the band students.

There is no logical reason for busing approximately 50 students each afternoon across town for a final destination of what is jokingly called a band hall.

This room that our band students practice in was used by our grandparents some 55 years ago.

Acoustics were unheard of in those beginning years, and the band population then probably didn't number more than 15 or 20.

If you ever had the enjoyable experience of hearing our senior high band you'll probably recall that you wondered how such a small band, and indeed ours is small compared to many others who number over 100, could put forth so much glorious sound. How do you think it sounds in the band hall? Most of you have visited with the band as requested on occasions in the band hall.

These students live with this overcrowded, ear-deafening experience each school day. It's only the watchful eye of God that has prevented students and costly instruments from tumbling down one of the three flights of stairs they must encompass each school day.

It does no good for a parent like myself to ask that these steps be repaired (I requested the superintendent make acceptable repairs on two occasions).

They are not deteriorated in the sense of "falling in" (though there are a few that seem to sink when you step on them), but the rubber treads, or what is left of them, need to be either all taken off or all put back on.

The metal stripping on the edges of the steps is mostly "not there." All of the stripping should be removed entirely as I have had my shoe catch almost every time I climbed these stairs.

These students have gone beyond proving their worthiness as evidenced recently by their "All I" Jackson trip, and even more unimaginable, their remarkable performance in Atlanta.

How many bands do you know of who received a standing ovation by the judges and all spectators in the stadium at State Competition? Yes, I said "judges," and it seems as though our band received honor by the judges themselves for the first time that anyone knows of.

They also received a standing ovation by participating bands while only on a practice run on their Atlanta trip. The band hall contains so many trophies and awards that it won't be long before an addition is needed to house the commendations.

Their trip to Atlanta was an honor in itself as it was by invitation only. Picayune and Tiger Pride are the only two bands invited from the State of Mississippi.

Since this was Tiger Pride's first venture into the world of stiff competition with the "creme of the crop" they could not have been expected to come home with scores of any significance; but they proved again that Tiger Pride is indeed the best band in our entire State by bringing home the following honors:

Friday evening - Concert Competition - Superior (1).
Saturday morning - Marching Competition - Superior (1).

Saturday night banquet presentations:
Most outstanding drum line in their Class.

1st runner up - most outstanding band in Marching in Class.

Most Outstanding in Concert in Class A (13 competing).
2nd runner up Overall, regardless of size or class of school. (They lost by 2 points to a band from New York with over 200 members.) (25 bands participated.)

Tiger Pride was the smallest band competing.

Please give these students what they deserve and have more than earned in only the past few years. Funds were found when the new junior high cafeteria was constructed, for it was built out of necessity and not luxury.

No one can say that a new senior high band hall would be a luxury for it truly is a necessity at this time.

The Board should investigate the possibility of obtaining emergency funds for this purpose, as the present facility is certainly in a condemned state.

Existing conditions should surely warrant an emergency situation. There are those who have the opinion that district monies are not being spent wisely in this department also.

I say to them, and to those of you who share their opinion, that it is worth every penny. If you could see those grins from ear to ear, the jumping up and down, the all-out excitement upon succeeding in everything they attempt, you too would know that their many, many long hours of after school and night practices were hours well spent.

They have endured as much or more hardship as in any other program in this school system.

These kids deserve a place they can call their own. They've put everything they have into bringing our district recognition that can be boasted by no other school in the State of Mississippi.

In my opinion this board has not recognized the efforts of Mr. Page and Mrs. Hamilton as they should have. These two fine people are responsible for building character, responsibility, discipline, stamina, and every other word in the dictionary that could be used for describing what they have instilled within these students.

They have cared for these students as if they were their own children. How many teachers do you know of who work with their students almost every day after school; who play basketball and other sports with their students at night and on weekends; who take their students to Pizza Hut or other places during off hours just to have fun; who in general spoil their kids rotten?

They do, and the kids show their love, affection and respect by bringing home the highest honors that can be had. No band is better than ours — ours is No. 1.

Won't you do something to let these kids, parents and directors know that you recognize their achievements?

Keep in mind that the parents raised approximately $13,500 this year alone to help send these kids on trips and pay for other things needed in the band by selling cupcakes, doughnuts, pop-boys, candy, candles, washing cars, having yard sales, and in general, nothing less than beg, borrow and steal to get what the kids needed to be the best.

I haven't heard of any athletic program parent raising as much as a dime to help fund their program.

Maybe if the board would cut the athletic budget down to the same, or less, than the band (dollars per child), then athletic program parents might have the same feeling of participation by raising their own money for needs not financed by the school.

ACCREDITATION
My feelings on this subject are that the schools in this system are accredited in accordance with the needs and desires voiced by public opinion and no changes should be made.

BUILDING PROGRAM
Since I was fortunate enough to chair this subcommittee, all of my sentiments are stated in the Majority Report, but if a new junior high cannot be constructed in the near future, plans should be instituted immediately for a new band hall at the senior high.

Surely funds are available somewhere for this project. It seems as though funds are always found when something requiring major funding is needed. Fifteen years is adequate time for a project which was supposedly No. 1 on the priority list of the system; something else was always pushed ahead and this project slowly but surely was pushed to the bottom.

It may be that the board was not aware of this situation but we know that someone must be responsible for this tragedy.

It would be a mistake for this board to allow the system to continue for any length of time on the plan set forth for the next year by moving the sixth and ninth grades.

Granted, we are in an emergency situation, but the senior high is losing valuable space, and the senior high students will be deprived of elective courses where low class population requires elimination for the sake of classroom space.

The services of an assistant principal at North Bay Elementary would be eliminated after the establishment of the "middle school."

Other recommendations of the Majority Report will not be possible unless the proposals of the building subcommittee are implemented as first priority.

Constructing a new junior high will benefit the Cities of Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

All of our elementary students will eventually be attending the junior high. The "middle elementary" will relieve overcrowding at North Bay and Waveland.

The imaginative mind could have a field day with all of the space and facilities made possible if this building plan is followed.

The major task of the board will be to show the public how important this project is and the timing involved.

If a bond issue were passed tomorrow morning it would be approximately three years before students walk through the doors of this new school.

Another major project is to instill in the voters that it takes a 60 percent majority to pass.

You should solicit voters who rent, and senior citizens whose tax exemption will probably prevent any additional tax burden.

You have a burden on your shoulders but from what I've witnessed lately you will succeed — you must succeed.

COORDINATOR

We are in need of a curriculum coordinator. This is a must to coordinate all instructional programs in our system; then there would be no need for employment of a mathematics supervisor.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

I strongly oppose certain recommendations which may come before you this night; we should not eliminate our athletic director as he plays an integral part in the system.

The community has shown a strong desire for athletics in our system.

Some have voiced the opinion that we don't need an athletic program if a well-structured physical education program is instituted; they say that a child shouldn't be going to school only to participate in sports.

I say that if this is all the child goes to school for, then do everything you can to keep him there.

School is the place he needs to be at this point in his life. He may not be an honor roll student but he's there, fighting his books, just to be able to participate in the athletic program.

That's the purpose of the system — to educate the child — and you should do everything possible to keep him in there fighting.

BAND PROGRAM
A recommendation may come before you which I do not agree with.

You should not discontinue the band program below the 6th grade, or any other level; ideally, there should be some type of music program developed beginning with 1st grade.

Music enriches the mind, challenges the motor skills, and young children are fascinated and thrive on being able to produce some reasonable facsimile of "music."

Art instruction would also be of benefit in the elementary level.

CLASSROOMS
Opinions have been voiced concerning self-contained classrooms through grade six.

The concept of establishing self-contained classrooms after grade three would deprive our students of specialized professionals for instruction and development for the school years ahead of them.

It would be impossible in this day of specialization to expect a teacher to know enough about each and every subject to be prepared to do a thorough job.

How could this teacher keep up with advancements made each year in each subject at this grade level?

This also poses another problem. I'm not saying that our system employs incompetent teachers, but what if a child is unfortunate enough to be placed in a classroom where the teacher is incompetent?

In a self-contained classroom he's stuck for the entire year; by using departmentalization after grade three, if a child is unfortunate enough to be assigned to one particular class where the teacher is lacking he may not suffer as greatly.

This is why special screening should be used for teachers of grades one through three.

INCOMPETENT TEACHERS
While I feel this system employs a majority of excellent teachers there are always a few who ruin the reputation of all.

More emphasis should be placed on assessment by the principals as they are in contact with these teachers each day and are more qualified to assess performance.

Our system should not fear what a fired inferior teacher will do to the system, but what this inferior teacher may do to our students.

SUBSTITUTE TEACHERS

Another subject sorely discussed by the Committee was that of substitute teachers. You can only work with what you have.

I was shocked to find that to qualify as a substitute teacher one must only possess a high school diploma. There are probably many persons available who would enjoy the opportunity of working in our fine system as a substitute teacher, and the system would benefit by having a larger selection.

Advertisement should be made on a regular basis.

TESTS
It would be an impossibility to have one person supervise the administration of such a vast project in the time allotted.

To administer, or supervise, the administration of these tests in each class of each school in our system, one would require far longer than the time allocated.

If the scores are to be compared to those throughout the State of Mississippi, then they should be administered as throughout the State of Mississippi — by each classroom teacher.

The teacher is far more familiar with his/her students than a stranger and should be an advantage. It probably would help if the teachers were given more instruction on presentation.

WORKBOOKS

For those persons who feel that the system should bear the cost of workbooks, I don't believe that there is now any mandate that the parent pay.

I have always paid for my children's workbooks that teachers thought necessary; if a parent doesn't want to work with the teacher in purchasing a workbook deemed necessary then only the student is harmed.

If a parent is in the position of not being able to afford a workbook, I feel that the system has, always, assisted.

If you were now to adopt a plan whereby the system pays for all workbooks, every teacher in the district would find the necessity, placing an additional financial burden on the already overloaded budget.

BOARD PERFORMANCE

My last comments would be on public opinion concerning the board's seeming lack of control over the system in the past. It appeared that administration controlled the board instead of vice versa.

Let's hear more voicing of opinion from each of you to show the public who's controlling whom.

It is apparent that all of you have indicated that a new approach must be taken — hence, the commission of the District Educational Needs Assessment Committee.

It would seem to be a good idea that this committee be continued, say in the beginning or end of each school year, to inform the board.

It is my feeling that the board is moving now towards working with the private citizen; congratulations to the Board.

Respectfully submitted,
Linda Penrose
